INTRODUCTION

Congratulations! The King's Awards for Enterprise are the most prestigious awards for UK businesses, recognising and celebrating business excellence across the UK. As recipients, you have demonstrated outstanding success in your respective fields of innovation, international trade, sustainable development and promoting opportunity (through social mobility) and your achievements will be an inspiration to others.

His Majesty The King personally approves the Awards, and the Department for Business and Trade will publicly announce the recipients on Tuesday 6th May. You must not therefore share this information before then – further guidance on the press embargo can be found on page 4. Following the formal announcement, you will be able to share the news of your success with your staff, customers, suppliers, and the general public.

This media pack provides information on how you will receive your Award and how you can use the King's Award for Enterprise Emblem. You will also want to maximise awareness of your great achievement, and we have compiled some top tips on how to do this.

Recipients often state that their achievement has opened new doors for them in terms of securing new contracts and venturing into new markets. Many are often keen to develop their business even further, so we have compiled a list of business support available to you (see Annex 4). We have also developed a LinkedIn group exclusively for Queen's and King's Awards for Enterprise recipients to provide an online alumni, enabling you to share your success and learn how others have grown their business and overcome challenges. You may also use this group for peer to peer networking and can find others in your sector and local area.

Lastly, we'd like to engage you in future policy development initiatives and may invite you to participate in Government roundtables, discussions, or ministerial visits.

For International Trade recipients only: I am pleased to inform you that the Institute of Export & International Trade would like to offer your organisation a year's free membership. For further details, please contact membershipexperience@export.org.uk .

Best wishes and congratulations,

Nichola Bruno

Head of The King's Awards for Enterprise Office

SECTION A:

INFORMATION ON THE EMBARGO UNTIL 01:00HRS ON TUESDAY 6th MAY 2025

Media interest will be at its highest when The King's Awards for Enterprise recipients are announced on 6th May 2025.WPlease use the time between now and then to generate media interest, albeit under the strict embargo conditions. Please also ensure your website is up to date and demonstrates the key factors that contributed to your award recognition. For example, your approach to sustainability or social mobility.

The embargo prohibits any articles or announcements of a King's Award being published or broadcast before 1 AM on 6th May 2025. You can, however, issue press releases, photographs, and other publicity material before then but all material must carry the following embargo:

Not for publication before 1 AM on 6th May 2025.

Please be aware that the embargo applies equally to communications with employees and suppliers, except for any selected colleagues or agencies who will be involved in any publicity activity.

Prior to the official announcement of the recipients, you may be contacted by the press regarding your Award. You are permitted to speak to them; however, this will still be under embargo conditions.

You will also be contacted by The King's Awards for Enterprise magazine which is produced by Nexus Media, a private, independent publishing company who produce an online and hard copy edition each year. You may wish to pay for a feature in their magazine. The company are not contracted by us but we work with them on articles about the Awards programme and they receive the recipients list under strict embargo along with other journalists. See page 9 for further details.

Please note: If you are approached by any other media outlets or organisations and are asked to become one of their patrons, pay a fee, sponsor, or donate, please ensure you conduct your own due diligence and seek legal advice before entering into any agreement or contract. The King's Awards Office does not have any links with organisations and we cannot provide legal advice. If you think that an organisation appears to be associated with us or have a Royal connection, please contact our Helpline:

SECTION B:

MAKING THE MOST OF THE KING'S AWARDS EMBLEM

Receiving a King's Award for Enterprise entitles the holder to use the esteemed Royal Emblem for five years in recognition of their achievement.

Award holders must notify The King's Awards Office of any change in circumstances during the period in which they hold the Award which might affect their entitlement to it. For example amalgamation of a business, a change in activities or the sale or dissolution of the business.

1. RULES FOR USE OF THE EMBLEM

• Only the entity who has received the Award can use the Emblem.

• Your right to display the Emblem will lapse five years after your Award is announced.

Your award expires midnight on 5th May 2030.

• The Emblem must always be displayed in a way that befits the dignity of an Emblem signifying Royal recognition.

• The Emblem is Crown copyright and must not be used as, or incorporated in, a trademark or a watermark.

• Misuse of the King's Award for Enterprise Emblem - whether that be an out of time use or incorrect use - may amount to a criminal offence under:

- Trade Descriptions Act 1968
- Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988
- Reg. 12 Unfair Trading Regulations 2008
- Reg. 6 Business Protection from Misleading Marketing Regulations 2008

As a King's Awards for Enterprise recipient, we would expect you to use the emblem across all aspects of your business. This could include on your products, on your social media, and in particular, on your website. This is particularly important for our Sustainable Development and Promoting Opportunity recipients; we would ask that you utilise the emblem to celebrate the work that you are doing, which has led you to achieve the award.

PLEASE REFER TO THE ANNEXES BELOW FOR FURTHER INFORMATION ON RULES OF USE.

2. WHO CAN DISPLAY THE EMBLEM

In general, only the business entity set out in the Grant of Appointment can display the Emblem.

Following consultation with The King's Awards Office, recipients may authorise their associates, affiliates, agents, customers, and retailers to display the Emblem but only on, or in connection with, goods or services manufactured or supplied by the entitled unit.

3. WAYS TO USE THE EMBLEM

The Recipient can inscribe the Emblem on letters, goods they produce, items such as invoices sent overseas and overseas advertising, providing it clearly relates to goods or services they have exported from the UK.

Members or direct employees of Award holding units may wear lapel badges, brooches, cufflinks, tiepins, ties, or other commemorative articles specifically approved by The King's Awards Office. These items must not be sold to the public and Award holding units are responsible for their supply and distribution.

3. COMMEMORATIVE ITEMS

The article can be produced in the shape of the Emblem itself or in any plain shape. Commemorative items that look like trophies are not permitted. The only approved trophy is the official King's Awards trophy supplied by The King's Awards Office. Any external companies who offer to reproduce the trophy are not authorised to do so; this includes miniature trophies.

Clearance from The King's Awards Office must be obtained before displaying the Emblem as a design on clothing. Ties and other permitted items of clothing must be produced with a single Emblem.

The use of the Emblem is not allowed on single use items, such as paper or plastic cups, plastic bags etc.

The British Promotional Merchandise Association (BPMA) is the UK's leading industry body dedicated to promoting best practice around the sourcing, manufacturing and distribution of promotional products: www.bpma.co.uk

Important: The King's Awards Office can withdraw an Award at any time for breach of the rules set out in these guidelines or on any other justifiable grounds.

You can find technical guidance on using the Emblem in Annex 1 of this document.

SECTION C:

PRESENTATION ARRANGEMENTS

His Majesty The King's personal representative in your county, the Lord-Lieutenant will present your Award. The Lieutenancy will contact you to agree a date for your presentation, which is normally held at your main place of business. This is a special celebration, and we would encourage you to invite all those who have contributed to your success. NB. Lieutenancy offices vary in size and resourcing, so if they have not contacted you by the end of June, please contact The King's Awards Office and we will be able to provide you with their contact details.

Each Award is formally conferred by a Grant of Appointment and is symbolised by the presentation of a trophy. As of last year, we are pleased to announce a new contract with The Workshop Aberfeldy who have designed and produced the new trophy. They may also be able to offer other products, in line with our Emblem guidance.

Please note that your Grant of Appointment and trophy will be sent to your Lord-Lieutenant separately and may not arrive simultaneously.

You should not approach your local Lord-Lieutenant before 6th May 2025. Wherever possible, please give plenty of notice of your chosen date and offer the Lieutenancy office some alternative dates for the presentation ceremony. We will provide the Lord-Lieutenant and the media with the press book entry that you are now due to approve. You may wish to provide the Lord-Lieutenant with a more in-depth briefing on your organisation and its activities before the presentation ceremony.

We would encourage you to showcase your success and promote the Awards by generating media interest around the announcement. You may also wish to extend invitations for the presentation ceremony to your local MP, councillors, and any other relevant contacts, such as your local international trade or business adviser, growth hub and enterprise partnership, or local business organisations.

If you have any queries, please do not hesitate to contact The King's Awards Office.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR GREATER LONDON RECIPIENTS ONLY

Different arrangements apply for Award recipients in the Greater London area: A Deputy Lord-Lieutenant in your London Borough will often present your Award on behalf of His Majesty's Lord-Lieutenant for Greater London.

Due to the practicalities of storing presentational items at the Lieutenancy Clerk's central London office, the trophy will be delivered to the press contact you have provided.

Recipients in the Greater London area only should contact the office of the Clerk to the Lieutenancy on 020 7270 0412, to agree a date for your presentation.

INFORMATION ON THE CELEBRATORY RECEPTION

His Majesty The King will host a Reception for King's Awards for Enterprise recipients at Windsor Castle.

The King's Awards Office will be in touch in due course with further details. Please note: We are only able to accommodate one representative from your company (or per Award achieved, whichever is the greater) so please consider now which employee you wish to nominate to attend. You will receive a request from The King's Awards Office asking for the person's contact details.

SECTION D:

KING'S AWARDS PROMOTION

1. STAKEHOLDER TOOLKIT AND RESOURCES

A Stakeholder Toolkit and Resources have been produced to help you promote the Awards to your clients, members, and business contacts, to encourage them to apply for a King's Award. We hope that you will champion the Awards and find these resources useful.

We have suggested some ways in which you can use social media and other channels to raise awareness. You can use our infographics in all social media channels. Please note: the Stakeholder Resources will be updated regularly with new content.

You can find the Stakeholder Toolkit and Resources on the Recipients' Dashboard

2. SOCIAL MEDIA CHANNELS

3. EVENTS, CONFERENCES AND MEETINGS

You may want to include a reference to The King's Awards at your events, conferences or meetings. If you would like PowerPoint slides on The King's Awards to use at your event, please contact The King's Awards Office.

HM Lord-Lieutenants, British Chambers of Commerce, local Councils, and business intermediaries sometimes arrange events in their local area to promote awareness of the Awards and encourage local businesses to apply. Often, they invite previous award recipients to attend and share their experiences. We would appreciate your support and engagement at these events.

4. THE LONDON GAZETTE: COMMEMORATIVE EDITION

Notice of your achievement will be published in the Supplement to The London Gazette. Commemorative ribbon bound parchment editions of the Gazette's supplement for The King's Award for Enterprise are available for purchase. Please contact the Gazette's customer services team on customer.services@thegazette.co.uk or call +44 (0)333 202 5070 for more information.

5. THE KING'S AWARDS MAGAZINE

The King's Awards magazine is another great way to showcase your success. ANNEX 1: TECHNICAL GUIDELINES OF EMBLEM USE

1. EMBLEM FILES

We provide two versions of the Emblems in png and vector formats for the four award categories. All files are available from the Recipients' Dashboard.

Ideally, master artwork should be used. Award holders must take the utmost care to ensure that the Emblem is reproduced correctly.

- CMYK → JPEG – a JPEG is an image file that uses CMYK, which is the colour process for printed items. Since it is an image file, the size and quality of this is limited so we would only recommend use for small printed items such as posters, brochures or business cards. Due to the JPEG format having a white background, JPEG versions are only available in blue.

- CMYK → EPS – an EPS is another print file type as it also uses CMYK, the difference for this one is it is a vector based file type, so if it is increased in size the logos retain their quality and don't become pixelated. EPS files are good for larger printed items such as event stands, large posters (A2 and above), signage and any professionally designed assets.

- RGB → PNG – a PNG is another image file, but this one uses an RGB colour profile which is a digital build-up of colours, so is best for any digital assets such as social media images and websites.

2. CORRECT AND INCORRECT USE OF THE EMBLEM

Correct use of the Emblem

• The year of the Award must always appear with the Emblem, except when the Emblem is on a flag, lapel pin, cufflinks or certain items of clothing (please seek further guidance from King's Awards Office with regards to clothing)

• The full legend, including award year and category, must be displayed when the Emblem height is 12mm or more. The Emblem height refers to the distance from the top of the crown to the base of the 'e'

• The legend is part of the Emblem; therefore, the font of the legend must be kept the same as in the files provided by The King's Awards Office

• The Emblem must always be displayed on a contrasting background

• The Emblem colours that we predominantly use are the same as those used for His Majesty The King's Coronation Emblem and are as follows. However, the Emblem colours may be changed to match your company's branding.

Colour codes of the updated Emblem

Red:
PMS 3517C

C 0 R 193
M 100 G 0
Y 86
B 22
K 18 #C10016

Blue:
PMS 294C

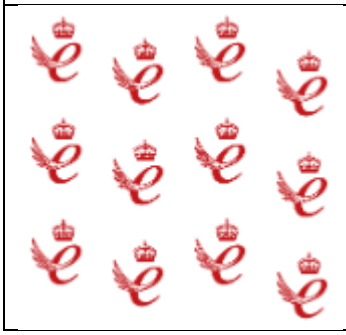

C 100 R 0
M 55 G 47
Y 0 B 108
K 58 #002F6C

- Decorative borders cannot be added around the Emblem

We have supplied Emblems on the Recipients' Dashboard for use in the sizes as below:

Under 12mm with date From 12mm with full legend

Incorrect use of the Emblem:

Example	Reason for incorrect use
	X The legend is underneath. N.B. The legend must be encircling the 'e'
	X Award year and category are missing
	X There is a border around the Emblem
	X Part of the legend 'The King's Awards for Enterprise' is missing; the legend font is incorrect
	X Emblem is used as a repeating pattern

3. MULTIPLE AWARDS

As an Award holder, you can display the Emblems of all your current King's Awards and Queen's Awards. As each Award expires, the Emblem must be removed from wherever it has been displayed. For example, on your website, company literature and packaging.

If you achieved an Award(s) more than five years ago, you are permitted to state that you have previously achieved an Award(s) and provide the relevant details such as the date and year. Please do not create a 'Previous Award holder' Emblem as these are not permitted.

4. FLAGS

Only Award holders are entitled to fly the King's Awards flag.

The King's Awards flag features the Emblem in white on a King's Award red (PAN-TONE®* 3517c) background.

The date does not appear.

Flags may be produced at any size from those required for flag poles to miniature desk flags.

Please note the King's Awards Office does not supply or produce flags or other merchandise. You may wish to research suitable merchandisers, some of whom produce a brochure/catalogue of items.

ANNEX 2: MEDIA / SOCIAL MEDIA GUIDANCE

If you've not worked with your local newspaper, news website, radio or television station to secure coverage before, here are five top tips for gaining coverage. The same tips apply to working with specialist trade media titles.

1. Time is of the essence - start thinking about what your media strategy is now.

2. Draft or use the template press release provided below and send it to journalists under embargo (meaning articles relating to your award should not be published before 1 AM on Tuesday 6th May and uploaded to your website on or after 6th May). This should be short - no more than 300 words - written in plain English, and should cover:

    - What your organisation does and why it has achieved a King's Award for Enterprise;
    - What the King's Awards for Enterprise are;
    - Include a quote from a senior person in the organisation, which highlights how they/the organisation feels to have received a King's Award for Enterprise and what it means for your business. Remember, the quote is there to talk about thoughts and feelings on your organisation's achievement so should be concise; Where possible, it should talk about the town/city you operate in and what it means for that area and your employees.

3. Research which titles might be interested in your success: newspapers like positive news stories but so do television and radio stations. Contact details for these organisations will be available online or published inside the newspaper. Remember, outlets' social media will also be monitored. If you can't find a direct phone number or email address, you could drop them a tweet or a Facebook message - but please don't mention you've achieved a King's Award if you contact them on these public channels before the 6th May!

4. Tips for high quality conversations:

- Journalists are busy individuals. They need facts presented in a clear and concise way. Some will prefer to be emailed, some will only respond to phone calls.
- Be clear with the reporter about what The King's Awards for Enterprise are - they may not have heard of them!
- Give them as much notice as possible. Start your conversations today.
- Do the leg work. Know what the story is, what the visual images are, offer them interviews and photo/film opportunities.
- Remember to provide your contact details so the journalist can contact you.

5. Think about what images there are that will help tell the story that you can provide to media or invite them to collect themselves: media outlets want images and videos to help them tell your story. Any images of people from the organisation and products should be high resolution and high quality. You must hold the copyright or have permission to distribute any images to the media and be sure they have permission to be published or broadcast.

Employing [number of] people, [company name] was founded in [year] and [description of what organisation does].

[Quote from someone senior in the organisation - two to three sentences.]

The King's Awards for Enterprise, previously known as The Queen's Awards for Enterprise, were renamed in 2023 to reflect His Majesty The King's desire to continue the legacy of HM Queen Elizabeth II's by recognising outstanding UK businesses. The Award programme, now in its 59th year, is the most prestigious business award in the country, with successful businesses able to use the esteemed King's Awards Emblem for the next five years.

Applications for King's Awards for Enterprise 2026 open on 6th May 2025 For more information, visit https://www.gov.uk/kings-awards-for-enterprise.

Five tips for using social media to promote your Award

Whether it's Instagram, Twitter (X), Facebook, or LinkedIn, please find below some best practice for promoting your King's Award.

Tag the King's Awards Office in your post with the handle @TheKingsAwards, @biztradegovuk or by using the #KingsAwards hashtag.

Use the #KingsAwards hashtag to connect your post to the wider online discussion and make your posts easier to find.

Think about your audience. If you're using LinkedIn, longer thought pieces and videos are good ways of engaging your contacts and explaining what the award means for your organisation. Twitter (X) and Instagram might be a shorter snapshot, or Instagram reels, informing your community that you have been recognised with this prestigious award. You can also tag or request to collaborate with @thekingsawards account on Instagram.

Consider what images or graphics you can use to grab people's attention. If you'd like to use our digital assets such as infographics and banners, please use our Stakeholder Resources on your Recipients' Dashboard.

As a King's Awards for Enterprise recipient, we would expect you to use the Emblem to promote the fact that you have been recognised with this prestigious award. This would include on your products, on your social media, and in particular, on your website. This is particularly important for our Sustainable Development and Promoting Opportunity recipients; we would ask that you use the Emblem to celebrate the work that you are doing, which has led you to achieve the award. We would also expect you to highlight your approach to sustainability or social mobility on your website.

ANNEX 3: DRAFT ARTICLE FOR YOUR NEWSLETTER

About King's Awards for Enterprise

The King's Awards for Enterprise are the most prestigious business awards in the UK. The awards were first established in 1965 and since then over 8000 companies have achieved a King's Award. 2025 marks the third year of The King's Awards for Enterprise, reflecting His Majesty The King's desire to continue the legacy of HM Queen Elizabeth II's by recognising outstanding UK businesses.

The awards celebrate the success of exciting and innovative businesses which are leading the way with pioneering products or services, delivering impressive social mobility programmes, or showing their commitment to excellent sustainable development practices.

This year 197 businesses have been recognised for their contribution to International Trade, Innovation, Sustainable Development and Promoting Opportunity (through Social Mobility). A total of 199 Awards are made with two companies being recognised with two Awards.

Only for the 2025 recipient that has achieved two awards: [Company name] is one of only five companies to have achieved two King's Awards for Enterprise.

The King's Awards for Enterprise 2025 include:

• 116 Awards for International Trade

• 46 Awards for Innovation
• 27 Awards for Sustainable Development
• 10 Awards for Promoting Opportunity (through social mobility)

The King's Awards for Enterprise 2026 open for applications on 6th May and close 9th September 2025. Almost all UK businesses (including non-profit) can apply, and the application process is free. All applications must be made online, and organisations may apply for more than one category. All entry forms, eligibility criteria and information on how to apply is available on https://www.gov.uk/kings-awards-for-enterprise/how-to-apply.
